

CONVENT OF THE HOLY INFANT JESUS (TOA PAYOH)

TESTIMONIAL TRAN TRANG THUY

Tran Trang Thuy has been a student of the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus Secondary since 2 January 2025. She joined the school in Secondary Three on a scholarship awarded by the Singapore Ministry of Education.

Thuy stood out and quickly distinguished herself as a mature, capable, and highly respected student leader. She earned the trust and approval of her peers and was appointed class chairperson in 2025, a role she carried out with initiative, reliability, and composure. She played a significant role in leading her class through various school events and activities, most notably the school's annual IJ Fiesta in 2025. Working closely with her classmates, she helped coordinate and manage the operations of the haunted house booth, ensuring that responsibilities were delegated effectively and preparations were carried out smoothly. In addition, Thuy oversaw liaison and preparation efforts for the class' Values-in-Action programme with MapleBear Singapore, communicating professionally with the principal of the preschool and ensuring that the programme was executed successfully.

Beyond her formal responsibilities, Thuy consistently demonstrated a strong sense of personal leadership. She is a thoughtful and clear-headed young woman who holds herself to exceptionally high standards and strives for excellence in all that she undertakes. Even in moments of stress or when faced with setbacks, she demonstrates resilience, discipline, and a determination to improve continuously. Her ability to lead herself with maturity and purpose naturally translated into the confidence others placed in her as a leader.

These qualities became even more evident through her involvement in her co-curricular activity, Debating and Oratory Society, where, despite only being a member for two years, she made an extraordinary and lasting impact. Elected by her peers as Vice President of the CCA Executive Committee, Thuy undertook her responsibilities with remarkable dedication while simultaneously growing into a confident and capable debater.

One of Thuy most significant contributions was her instrumental role in co-proposing and organising the Society's inaugural ASEAN Debating Championship alongside the Liaison Officer. Working closely with the executive committee, she helped coordinate participation from schools across five ASEAN countries, in addition to two local institutions, for the online tournament. Despite the competition's modest scale, Thuy approached the task with exceptional professionalism and commitment. During the school holidays, she independently learnt to operate a digital tabulation platform to manage score computation, rankings, and debate draws. Her strong attention to detail and sense of responsibility was reflected in the comprehensive documentation she prepared for the teachers-in-charge, where she clearly articulated the platform's functions, benefits, limitations, and operational processes.

As Head of Logistics for the tournament, Thuy took full ownership of the draws and tabulation processes while simultaneously supporting outreach efforts to participating schools. She communicated confidently and professionally with teachers-in-charge across the region, addressing queries and handling requests with fairness, efficiency, and tact. Her calm and thoughtful decision-making proved especially valuable when teams encountered unforeseen challenges. Recognising that many participating schools lacked formal debating experience, she also took the initiative to orient teams to the debate format and competition expectations. Furthermore, as the championship was the first of its kind within the Society to permit the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) for research purposes, Thuy played an important role in drafting and communicating clear guidelines on the ethical and meaningful use of AI, emphasising authentic engagement and substantive debate.

Throughout the planning and execution of the championship, Thuy consistently demonstrated adaptability, critical thinking, and intellectual courage. She embraced unfamiliar challenges with confidence, anticipated potential issues, and worked collaboratively with her peers to develop practical solutions and contingency plans. Her willingness to learn independently and her unwavering commitment to excellence reflect the calibre of her leadership and character.

Thuy is an exemplary young person whose contributions to both her class and her co-curricular activity have left a lasting impression far beyond what her brief time in the school might suggest. Her intellectual curiosity, adaptive leadership, resilience, and commitment to excellence distinguish her as a young woman of immense promise. I am confident that she will continue to make meaningful and lasting contributions in all her future pursuits.
